CASE STUDY

FairWarning® Inc. maximizes office space with Diversitrack multi-layer rail system

Collaboration and brainstorming with traditional whiteboards is still an effective problem solving technique and communications venue in commerce. Nowhere is it more evident than in the corporate offices of FairWarning® Inc. in Clearwater, Florida.

FairWarning® is a leading provider of security solutions which expand trust in mission critical applications, such as electronic health records and cloud applications, empowering businesses to grow their reputation for protecting confidentiality. Like many companies, they have limited wall space and a growing need for visual collaboration with their project teams. Track Technology Systems Inc. provided the perfect solution by developing a unique nesting configuration with the Diversitrack rail system accommodating multiple Diversiboards independently mounted and easily moved behind one another horizontally.

“We have multiple layers of rolling whiteboards allowing us to utilize different boards for different projects, by simply rolling one layer behind the other we are able to visually display multiple areas of any given project very easily”, said Teresa Parks, Vice President of Operations for FairWarning®. “The use of our multi-layer Diversitrack system with Diversiboards also allows us work on multiple projects at one time while maintaining organization, giving our team the ability to manage projects more efficiently.”

Diversitrack multi-layer rail system with Diversiboards is the most cost effective solution for complicated presentations and thought provoking discussions when wall space is at a premium. A variety of available scalable solutions remove the challenges of a custom installation in a most cost effective way.
